The people of Long Beach have spoken and when it comes to pancakes, there was no fooling around.

In our vote to decide where was the best place for a tasty hot stack in Long Beach, 135 voters cast their ballots.

And the winner is: Laurel Luncheonette.

Receiving 54 percent of the votes in the contest, Laurel Luncheonette has been a Long Beach staple since 1932. It features breakfast, lunch and dinner menu items from pancakes, omelets, salads and soups to paninis, pitas, wraps, burgers, steaks and seafood.

True professionals. The guys who run this place are wasting their talents.
How soon before the $126,000/year in property taxes run them out of town? Listen up, Democrats: Before you mail the Laurel their $17,000 tax increase, ask if you really have to drive another Long Beach staple out of business...

THANK YOU LONG BEACH!!!! We truly love serving you!
As hard as this profession is (waking up at 4am and running around virtually non stop until midnight), you make it fun and enjoyable. Not a day goes by that we can't find something to smile about together; and you've truly put a smile on our entire team's face today. Thank you again! Here's to another 80 years of serving you the best pancakes!

Congratulations! It may not be an Oscar, but it's the Oscar of pancakes in Long Beach, and if you're the one making them that means a lot. It's good to be judged by a jury of your peers -- and win. It means you must be doing some right, and in this day and age putting in long hours and hard work to do something right is to be not just admired, but celebrated. Selah.
